The background features three vertical stripes on the left side in shades of pink, blue, and beige. On the right side, there are two rectangular areas filled with a grid of small, light pink dots.

Outdated and Obsolete: Rethinking Traditional Classroom Research Practices

Josh Altshuler & Kate Tallman | 2026

OVERVIEW

- 1. Contexts
- 2. In the Classroom
- 3. Alternative Messages
- 4. Final Thoughts

January 7, 2026

SITUATING OURSELVES

What were some of the rules of research that defined your college experience?

Do they persist?

The Wikipedia panic

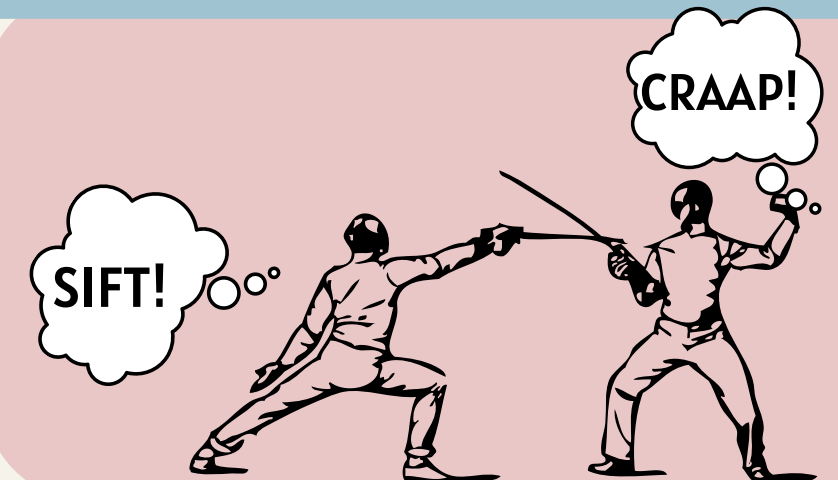

The .org bubble

January 7, 2026

Battle of the acronyms

IN THE CLASSROOM

Peer Review as the Gold Standard

Technology as Product

Teaching Citation Compliance

LET'S TAKE A PAUSE...

ALTERNATIVE MESSAGES

Practice the Pause

- What classroom/assignment practices serve students?
- How do you determine value?
- Encourage learners to situate themselves and their positions before proceeding.

Authenticity Matters

- What researcher character do we wish to model?
 - What would it take to make your classroom a community of practice?
 - Intentionally share moments of wonder, frustration, and joy.
-

January 7, 2026

FINAL THOUGHTS

Consult Your Librarian and Other University Advocates

Connect with campus partners to identify persistent bottlenecks to student research engagement and growth.

Hold Space for Self-Reflection

How you decide which foundational practices to pass on to students? How might you remix assignment guidelines to equitably and sensitively meet today's learners?

Uplift the Human Power of Choice

Maintain the balance of embracing technical innovation and giving attention to the gradual process of individual & community knowledge cultivation.

January 7, 2026

LEARNING MORE

Alaina C. Bull, Margy MacMillan and Alison Head. (2021). Dismantling the Evaluation Framework. In the Library with a Lead Pipe.

Mike Caulfield. (2019). SIFT (The Four Moves).

The Citation Project: Discover studies focused on academic integrity and classroom source usage.

Project Information Literacy: Browse OA articles on student research behaviors.

The background features three vertical stripes on the left: a wide pink stripe, a medium blue stripe, and a narrow beige stripe. The right side of the slide is a light beige color with two rectangular areas of small, light pink dots in the top right and bottom right corners.

THANK YOU

Contact Us:

jaaltsh@ilstu.edu

kwtallm@ilstu.edu